CITY AND DISTRICT. THREE LIVELY BOUTS.

Pat Raedy Had No Trouble in Defeating Tom Burns.

Three lively bouts were pulled off last night at the Suburban road house, in Prince George's county, in the presence of a large number of "sports;" the majority of whom belong in this city. There were two preliminary bouts, each of which was snort and decisive. Payton, who was to have met Jaynie, the unbeaten colored middleweight, dld not appear, and Tom Edwards, colored, of unknown antecedents, was substituted. He was no match for Jaynie, however, and was easily disposed of in three rounds. John Purcell, alias Jack Hogan, an ambitious white puglist, undertook to stay four rounds with Howard Wilson, the acknowledged lightweight champion of the District. Although outclassed he put up a pretty good fight for nearly three rounds, being finally knocked out with a right and left on ribs and jaw. The principal bout of the evening was be tween Pat Raedy, the popular white mid-dleweight champion of this locality, and Tom Burns, a veteran pugilist from Cali-fornia. This was somewhat of a disap-pointment, as Burns did not come up to ex-rectations in any respect. He had the advantages of height, weight and reach over the local man, and was the favorite in the betting at odds of 2 to 1. He seemed, however, to be woefully deficient in strength and hitting ability. Although the fight lasted three rounds, it looked as though Raedy might have won it in the first round if he had only half tried. Burns was game and did the best he could under adverse circumstances, and only succumbed to the blows rained upon his head and hady when he was no longer able to stand up. Neither man was seriously hurt.

Burns had no excuses to offer and admitted that he had been fairly beaten.

Simplify Public School Instruction.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: Those of us who have children at the pub-He schools constantly hear the system of instruction laughed at and joked about. But it is no laughing matter and should be seriously considered with the view of radfeally changing and improving it. The defects are so numerous that one hardly knows where to begin to criticise. It is safe to say, however, that under the system of written lessons the parents are the ones now being schooled and not the children, since the major portion of these lessons are either written out by the parents and copied by the children, or else dictated. Let me give you an example: My little child of seven years brought home yesterday a list of words which he was required to embody in as many sentences. terday a list of words which he was required to embody in as many sentences. Among the words were the following: "Floret," "Cosmos," "calyx," "ray-floret" and "petals." How is a child of seven years to perform such work when he or she cannot use a dictionary and can barely spell and read the simplest words and sentences? How many of our school trustees are able, off-hand, to do this little seven-year-old's lesson? PATER FAMILIAS.

EUGENE FIELD'S MEMORY

Academy of Music.—Peter F. Dailey in Bicycle Meet to Add to the Fund Being Raised for a Monument.

> A Splendid List of Events-Some of the Best Riders Have Entered -Many Valuable Prizes.

All details have been arranged for the bicycle meet to be held at Columbia Field, corner 17th and C streets northwest, next Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the Eugene Field monument fund. A meeting of the press and citizens' committees was held at the Riggs House Thursday evening, and all matters pertaining to the event were disposed of in a highly satisfactory manner to all concerned. A great deal of interest was displayed by the members of the two committees, and they reported that the enthusiasm displayed by the people of the city in the buying of tickets and lending the meet every encouragement in their power was most gratifying.

The races will be started at 2 o'clock, and from the list of entries there is every reason to believe that the sport will be highly exciting and interesting. There has not been a finer lot of entrants secured for any race held here this season, and some close finishes are looked for between the cracks who have signified their intention of com-peting for the prizes. The track is now in good condition, and by Wednesday next will have been fixed up in such an excellent manner as to make fast time possible While the size of the track rather precludes any record-breaking time its quality will more than make up for this defect.

Among the different events the most nota ble probably will be the mile open, in which Fred Schade and Billy Sims are both entered, and the finish between these two riders should be close and exciting enough to gratify any lover of sport. Another ex-citing race will be the one-mile tandem, in which Smith and Greer will be pitted against Sims and Schade. All of the promi-nent riders of the city have entered, and the number has more than come up to the expectations of those who have the meet in charge. Mr. Sam Stinemetz has had the Wall Paper, House Painting and Window handling of the entries, and it is his opin-ion that a finer lot has never been received in the District for any meet.

Good Patronage Expected.

The sale of tickets has progressed in a n.ost satisfactory manner, and there is every indication that every available seat and all of the standing room will be taken at the park when the starter's pistol sounds next Wednesday afternoon. The patronage of the meet among society people has been gratifyingly generous, and members of Congress, of the cabinet, Supreme Court and of the diplomatic corps, as well as other well-known society personages, have come forward and tendered their services to make the meet a complete success. to make the meet a complete success.

Board of Trade Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Washington board of trade, which is to be held next Monday evening, promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of this useful organization. For this reason, as well as because of the importance of the position occupied in the community by the board of trade it is hoped that the attendance will be unusually large. The reports of the president, secretary and treasurer will be presented. That of the president will doubtless be a valuable paper, as it will contain a resume of the board's work during the past year. Ten directors will also be elected to serve for the three ensuing years. Following the business meeting a buffet lunch will be served, when the members will have the opportunity to meet each other and talk over the affairs of the board in a social way.

WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKET. Eggs Unusually Scarce and Higher

Butter Lower. The feature of the local wholesale pro duce market today is the sharp advance in eggs, their price having advanced two or three cents a dozen since last week. They are unusually scarce, and indications of a still further rise are not lacking. Butter, on the other hand, has fallen somewhat in the top grades, the lower grades being dull. Cheese remains as last quoted, and poultry shows little change. The same can be said of game, while vegetables and fruits show up practically as they did last week. Beef and other meats show only the slight changes noted from week to week.

market continues to be a well-supplied one a firm, healthy tone prevailing. Butter is quite firm in the top grades, although prices have declined slightly. The supply of strictly fresh goods is rather limited, more so than for some time past, so that there is no difficulty in obtaining top prices, which have dropped about a cent and a half a pound. Lower graces are dull, while imitation creamery is quite steady. Eggs have not been so scarce for many months, and if it were not for the large amount of storage goods on the market prices would not be far from 30 cents Strictly fresh goods are practically impossible to obtain, and when they are obtain-able they sell at fancy prices. The Flower Show. The annual flower show of A. Gude & Bro., for which they leased the large building adjoining their store, at 1226 F street, is attracting wide attention. Many extremely rare plants, chrysanthemums and roses abound. A novelty is the Lapageria rose, a product of Chile, and very rare in this climate. An attractive feature of the show is a decorated banquet table, set with twenty covers, ready for the first course. In the center of the table is a lake of real water with live gold fish and floating swans. The exhibit will be continued all

MISS BARTON (KONGHTED. An Armenian Order Conferred by the

Prince of Jarumlem. Miss Clara Barton, the president of the Red Cross Society in the United States, has lately been made a cheraliere of the Order of Melusine, in consideration of her work among the Armenians. This order of knighthood is conferred upon her by Guy de Lusignan, Prince of Jerusalem, Cypress and Armenia.

The Order of Melustne is given to those who assist in any way the Armenian nation or who have distinguished themselves in science, letters or the arts. It was instituted in 1186 by Queen Sibylla, the wife of King Guy of Jerusalem. The jewel of the order consists of the Cross of Jerusalem in blue enamel. Between the four points of the cross are four smaller crosses in silver, while in the center are the arms of the royal house of Lusignan. The jewel is surmounted by a silver crown, and is worn upon the left breast, suspended from a blue ribbon with white borders.

Prince Guy de Lusignan, the giver of this decoration, is also hereditary Prince of Jerusalem, Cypress and Armenia, and be-longs to one of the oldest and most aristofamilies in France. He is descended from the last king of the three above men-tioned countries. One of his ancestors, like-wise named Guy, became King of Jerusalem and Armenia in 1186 by his marriage with Sibylla, the daughter of the former This Sibylla was the founder of the Order of Melusine. In 1187 King Guy was defeated by Saladin in the battle of Tiberias, and several years later retired to the island of Cypress, where he reigned for two years. His descendants ruled the island for nearly three hundred years, when it was sold to the Venetians by Catherine Carnaro. From that time on the Lusignans have been scat-tered in various parts of the east. In the earlier part of this century they were recog-nized by Russia as being the rightful de-scendants of the last King of Armenia. Prince Guy, the present head of the royal house of Lusignan, was born in Constan-tinople in 1834, and received his education in Venice and Paris. The prince was for some years at the head of the Armenian schools in Paris, but he resigned to devote more of his time to the study of oriental languages, in which line he has given much valuable information to the scientific world. At present he is living in Paris, engaged in iterary work.

His wife was the Princess Marie de Goupil, who died some years ago. His brother, the late Prince Khorene, was at the head of the Armenian Church, and was one of the representatives to the Ber-lin conference of 1878.

Virginia Hot Springs. The fall season at the Virginia Hot Springs has been a very successful one. The "New Homestead," which has been and is now well filled, will remain open all winners of the fact. The location of the springs, 2,500 feet elevation—its easy access from New York and Washington—its bracing and delightful climate—the curative qualities of the natural hot waters, the superior accommodations, and the golf links, all combine to render it a very attractive and desirable resort. A special compartment car leaves Washington via Chesapeake and Ohio Ry. Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights, arriving at the springs next morning.-
